| sculpture 12 | Sometimes artists experiment with new materials. White made an award-winning stone carving of an owl. He then decided to use the stone sculpture as a mold for a bronze statue. White is happy that the bronze sculpture looks so much like the original stone sculpture. Do you think the owl looks like stone even though it is made from metal? Touch the rough and smooth parts of the owl. Do they feel like stone or metal? Can you tell? | |
